Scp 8000 has been decided! And its...!

The “seal of approval” has been declared the official Scp 8000!

After a long contest Scp 8000 has been crowned. Written by the Wikidot user PlaguePJP, this entity is a safe class anomaly that appears to be a very, very, very, very, very long seal. And has a long story attached to it. But it is definitely worth a read. Luckily all the other competition entries have been given spots as other entities in series 9.

Personally my favourite entry in the competition was either “edge of the world (now scp-8001)” or “one for the history books (now scp-8330)” but congratulations to PlaguePJP for being granted the honour of writing the entry for SCP-8000.

Ranking all current scp-001 proposals

Scp-001 is seriously very interesting!

We all know scp-001, the many proposals of grand beings or adventures. Stories about how the foundation was founded and how it will end. I love a lot of these scp-001 proposals so why not rank them.

Scp idea: all the ducks in one basket

Dr Azazel Quackers Vilson of the Scp foundation!

I have had this idea for an Scp in my head for a long time so why not write it down.

Item#: SCP-8650

Object class: Safe

Special Containment Procedures: SCP-8650 is to be completely ignored by foundation staff while it walks around Site-3. If SCP-8650 asks any questions it is to be given false information. If SCP-8650 displays any sign of rebellious activity it is to be sedated.

Description: SCP-8650 is an English male, roughly 2 metres in height, with hair made up of millions of small yellow feathers. SCP-8650 is capable of making ducks appear out of thin air by snapping its fingers. These ducks are not anomalous in appearance or behaviour. When frustrated, SCP-8650 has displayed the ability to communicate with these ducks that it's created, making them attack any human they see.

Discovery: SCP-8650 was discovered inside Site-19, nearby the containment of SCP-049, saying that we was "just walking by". Quickly after he was found, we was put into temporary containment where he was interviewed.

Interviewed: SCP-8650

Interviewer: Dr. Vilson

<Begin Log>

Dr. Vilson: To start this interview, what were you doing around SCP-049's containment?

SCP-8650: I was walking past to do my job.

Dr. Vilson: What "job"?

SCP-8650: (Pauses) Are you new here?

Dr. Vilson: No. Since you won't answer my first question-

SCP-8650: (Interrupting) If you want answers, stop asking stupid questions!

Dr. Vilson: (Deep breath) Why are you wearing foundation uniform?

SCP-8650: (visibly confused) Because I work here?

Dr. Vilson: As far as I'm aware-

SCP-8650: (Interrupting) IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE ME, THEN LEAVE!

Dr. Vilson: (Very agitated) Gladly.

<End Log>

Closing Statement: 5 minutes after this interview SCP-8650 tried to breach containment but was quickly sedated.

3 weeks after the previous interview, following a massive containment breach, SCP-8650 was moved to Site-3. Following this transfer, SCP-8650 requested freedom on multiple occasions. These requests were denied. After asking for the 18th time, Dr. Vilson was sent to attempt another interview.

Interviewed: SCP-8650

Interviewer: Dr. Vilson

<Begin Log>

Dr. Vilson: Hello again.

SCP-8650: Cut the formalities, i think we both know what you're doing here.

Dr. Vilson: Well then, Mr-

SCP-8650: (Interrupting) Dr! (deep breath) my name is Dr. Quackers.

Dr. Vilson: Fine, Dr. Quackers, may you explain how your abilities work?

SCP-8650: You are not privy to that information and with the way you're treating me, you will, most likely, never be privy to it.

Dr. Vilson: OK. May you explain how you-

SCP-8650: (Interrupting) Do you even realize who I am? I am your superior. I don't understand why i have been put in this cage, but when I find out. (Pauses) You'll be lucky to find another job!

Dr. Vilson: (Enraged) Fine!

<End Log>

4 weeks after this interview, 5 letters (written on lined notebook paper were found, collectively pinned to the wall by a small dagger. The letters read as followed.

Hello Dr. Vilson,

It seems like you've met my apprentice. He's a bit misguided, so i believe you'll be able to
"put him on the right path".

Don't worry about him being a spy of some sort, for the sake of transparency, he's a complete moron.

Oh and one last thing, If he isn't returned to me on the final day of 20th year on the twelfth tick of calamity, then say goodbye to your position.

From Site director. Ducky

To Dr. Vilson

I'm sure you've met Azazel Quackers by now. I hope you can follow this list of instructions when the time comes. For our sake and the foundation's.

on the first tick of calamity, Azazel is to be decapitated.

on the second tick of calamity, his body has to be cremated.

on the third tick of calamity, a nail is to be placed in the exact centre of the nearest graveyard.

on the fourth tick of calamity, the nail is to be moved to the newest grave in the graveyard.

on the fifth tick of calamity, the nail is to be moved to the oldest grave in the graveyard.

on the sixth tick of the calamity, the nail is to be jammed into the heart of the youngest person present, killing them.

on the seventh tick of calamity, the nail is to be melted down into liquid.

on the eight tick of calamity, the oldest person available must drink this liquid, preferably killing him.

on the ninth tick of calamity, the power to the containment site that holds SCP-8650 is to be turned off.

on the tenth tick of calamity, the power to the containment site that holds SCP-8650 is to be turned on.

on the eleventh tick of calamity, Azazel will reappear and when he is found he is to be moved outside the containment site.

on the twelfth tick of calamity, the gate will open

You'll know when these steps need to be followed.

To, Dr. Vilson

Do you know what happened to your child?

She was a clever young girl, wasn't she?

You lost her.

They declared her missing.

But you couldn't accept that.

You ended up here.

The foundation.

But you don't like working here, Azazel can tell-WE CAN TELL! We have the information you seek.

If you make the following change to whatever Azazel Quacker's containment procedures are, the information we have can become yours: Dr. Quackers should be allowed to roam freely.

Pleasure doing business with you

After these letters were read by Dr. vilson, he requested that SCP-8650 be allowed to wander around freely. This request was denied at first, but after SCP-8650 attempted to breach containment again (resulting in the death of Dr Vilson, and SCP-8650 claiming Vilson as his surname.), this request was accepted. Since then, SCP-8650 has displayed no signs of rebellious activity

Group of interest idea: (SEND) S.URVIVAL
E.XTINCTION N.OWHERE D.EPARMENT!

This group is basically a postal service XD!

I've always thought about ideas for more groups in the Scp canon, so here's the most concrete idea I've had.

As far as the Scp foundation knows, the S.E.N.D is a group (very similar in nature to the Scp foundation itself) from a universe directly parallel to our own, where the world is either reversed or just more anomalous than our own. They have sent over multiple anomalies to our reality for varying reasons. The group's staff is seemingly full of reality benders and/or dangerous anomalies.

Little is known about how the group exactly operates, though they seem non-aggressive. Their true goal is unknown, from what the foundation can gather, they are just waiting for an event they refer to as "the twelve ticks of calamity".

Sustained contact with the survival e.xtinction n.owhere d.epartment has only been achieved once. In which, this conversation took place over radio.

Captain Hunt: who am I speaking to?

Site Director Ducky: Site Director Ducky, and you are?

Captain Hunt: captain hunt.

Site Director Ducky: well, captain, why have you called at so late an hour?

Captain Hunt: what do you mean? My watch says it's 6:00 pm

Site Director Ducky: (confused) you must have a faulty watch.

Captain Hunt: nevermind. On behalf of the Scp foundation, may I ask a few questions?

Site Director Ducky: Scp foundation?

Captain Hunt: ...yes

Site Director Ducky: Puldunan sends her regards.

Captain Hunt: what do you mean?
The radio just returned static.

Closing statement: after the radio kept sending out static for 5 minutes, it exploded

Further communication has been attempted but each attempt failed miserably.
